Lower speeds improve safety on Isis Highway

Motorists should lookout for a reduced speed limit on a 1.5-kilometre stretch of the Isis Highway, North Isis.

Transport and Main Roads Director-General Neil Scales said the speed limit had been reduced to 80km/h.

"Our safety team assessed the stretch of road earlier this year and made a recommendation to the Speed Management Committee to drop the speed limit," Mr Scales said.

"The committee is made up of Queensland Police, Bundaberg Regional Council and Transport and Main Roads (TMR) representatives.

"New speed limit signs are in place and motorists should drive to the changed conditions."
